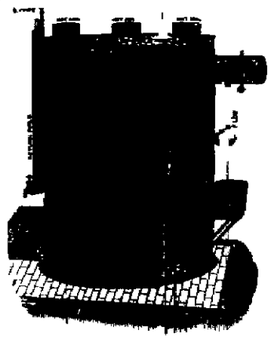
THE ETNA

COMBINATION

Hot Air and Hot Water Heater.



The Most Powerful Hot Water Combination Furnace now in the Market.

In this construction, the Fire Pot is made in two parts the upper part being hollow, thus forming a Water Way The water enters at one side, passes all round the fire pot, becoming highly heated in the progress then passes to the Radiators and is again returned to the fire pot, where it is still further heated

With this combination rooms at any distance can be thoroughly warmed with Hot Water, and the living rooms warmed with Fresh Warm Air, at the cost only of Cold air to pass out of doors By this combination we claim to warm a house thoroughly giving a purer and more healthy air than when warmed by steam or hot water alone With the ETNA there is no dust or gas, and with the Lever Working Draw Centre Grate, for ease of management, it has no superior in the market. A GREAT CURE.

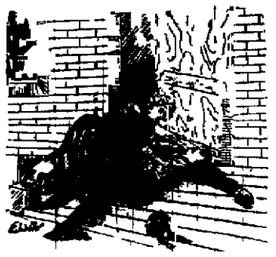
YOU MAY BE PROSTRATE IN THE SAME TERRIBLE MANNER.

Thousands are nervous and suffer from mental exhaustion, brain fatigue, weak and irritable nerves, sleeplessness, depression of mind and shattered nerves, without realizing the danger of the fearful results which follow neglect of these symptoms.

It is nerve and brain exhaustion from overwork or nervous disease, which makes the brain tired, the arm nerveless, the limbs trembling, the muscles weak and the body without strength and energy, and, unless cured, the end will be shattered nerves, fatal kidney and liver disease, heart failure, insanity, with softening of the brain, paralysis or death.

Remember, neglect alone is dangerous. Use Dr Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, the wonderful restorer of health, strength and vigor, and your bad feelings will disappear as by magic. Purely vegetable and harmless Druggists $1 00.



"For the good of the public I would like to state the wonderful change that has come over me since I commenced taking Dr Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy I was completely broken down in health and suffered from extreme exhaustion and could not rest day or night. I had rheumatism and neuralgia in my sides, an all-gone feeling in my stomach and a terrible palpitation, causing me to think I had heart disease. I had to give up work After consulting and treating with several eminent physicians with no benefit, I at last tried Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy From the first bottle I noticed very little change, but I am thankful that I continued its use for I am now well, have gained 23 pounds in weight, and work every day. That trembling feeling and terrible throbbing and palpitation of the heart have left me. I could fill columns that would interest people afflicted as I was, and will be glad to converse with any one so afflicted W C. Miles, 4 Manning Street, Medford, Mass'

FOREIGN NEWS.

The London Times on Cholera Epidemic.

LONDON, Oct. 7. The Times, whose letters on the cholera epidemic are attracting great attention in Europe, publishes articles to-day on the prospects for this and next year. It says: "We are already in October and still the epidemic marches steadily westward, and despite the elaborate precaution and supposed sanitary purifications, the cholera is doing just what it has always done formerly, creeping quietly onward and sowing autumnal seeds in new ground over a wide area, which will burst forth luxuriant with the advent of summer. It is the most murderous de-ason that after September nothing more is to be feared for individual towns and districts which have borne the brunt of the danger previously. Winter quarters means delivery for the next season, and it means very much for us."

CASES [illegible] MAN'T

WANTS TO RACE.

Lord Dunraven Challenges for the Cup.

A challenge to race for the America's cup has been received by the New York Yacht Club. It is called the preliminary challenge, and comes from the Earl of Dunraven, who challenged three years ago. Several yachtsmen also have letters from Lord Dunraven in relation to the challenge, but refuse to give out their contents.

A correspondent called at the clubhouse of the New York Club, 67 Madison av, and when he asked about the challenge he was referred to the bulletin board, on which was posted a notice of a preliminary challenge having been received and also a cablegram which Secretary Oddie sent to Lord Dunraven The cablegram merely informed Lord Dunraven of the receipt of his challenge, and told him that it would be placed before a special meeting of the club on the 18th of this month

Rumors of a challenge being on the way have been flying about the city for over a week, but few believed them to be true Three days ago Treasurer F W Jay Hurst told a friend that he could expect a challenge from Lord Dunraven in a few days. Although no details of the challenge will be given out the correspondent learned that it is conditional

This may mean that Lord Dunraven will race next year provided the New York Yacht Club strikes out from the deed of gift the dimension clause calling for length on the load water line, beam at the load water line, extreme beam and draught of water Lord Dunraven's position in this matter has been known for some time His present challenge is understood to be merely to bring it officially before the New York Yacht Club Lord Dunraven stands ready to build a new yacht, but it is believed that he objects to sending his dimensions with the challenge and also objects to this feature of the deed in case he should win the cup

At the special meeting of the New York Yacht Club, to be held on the 18th of this month, a committee will undoubtedly be appointed to answer the communication

The sentiment of the club, as far as can be learned, is that there are few chances of the challenge being accepted A committee will reply to Lord Dunraven, but this committee will have no power to accept a challenge unless it complies in every way with the deed of gift. There is a chance that another meeting of the club will be called later to seriously consider the subject of changing the deed,

It was learned that the new yacht building for Royal Phelps Carroll at Bristol, to race in English waters next season will be a centreboard craft of about 12 feet draught and 115 feet over all. There is doubt about her racing for the Cape May cup, because it is claimed that the yawl Wendur has been sold out of the club to which she belonged when she won the cup in 1889 In this case the cup belongs to the New York Yacht Club, and will have to be returned to this country

The gentleman acting for Lord Dunraven in the matter is Mr. H Maitland Kersey, agent of the White Star line of steamers, and owner of the fast Herreshoff fin keel 25-rater El Chico If the challenge is accepted there is no doubt but that several New York yachtsmen are ready to build boats to compete for the honor of defending the cup, and it is thought that Boston, which has been to the front in other years, will not be behind this time.

Vice-Com Morgan, of the New York Yacht Club is named as one of the yachtsmen who would build, and he would certainly go the Herreshoffs, for his design R. Suydam Palmer, owner of the Marguerite and a most enthusiastic yachtsman, is also spoken of His preference for a designer is said to be for the Boston firm of Stewart & Binney, who made such successful alterations on the Marguerite last season. Com. J Malcolm Forbes, of the Eastern Yacht Club was booked a year or two ago as a sure cup defender in case of a challenge, but horses rather than yachts have lately absorbed his attention There is much speculation as to the boat Dunraven would bring over, but it is more than probable that she would be a Watson design.

Gen. Paine Hopeful

The announcement that a challenge for the America's cup had actually been received was a genuine surprise to Boston yachtsmen, for most of them had come to believe that but little reliance was to be placed in the oft-repeated rumors that one was coming.

There was, however, but one sentiment, that of satisfaction that another international contest was in view, and coupled with its expression was the hope that nothing would prevent the making of a match.

Foremost among Boston yachtsmen is Gen Charles J Paine, whose successful defence of the cup in past years has won him a national reputation. To him, as to others, the challenge was a surprise, but he was none the less ready, when seen at his pleasant country seat at Weston, by a reporter, to express his satisfaction and the hope that a series of races would take place.

"I do not know," he said, with his customary conservatism, when asked his opinion of the challenge, "that I can say anything at this time which will be of particular value. Of course I am glad to see a challenge, and only hope that races will come from it, for an international contest will give yachting a boom which will be felt in every department of the sport."

"It would be most interesting to know whether you would again enter the lists as a defender of the cup," was suggested

"That is something which I have not yet considered," was the reply. "My plans for a season's yachting are rarely made very far ahead, and whatever I do is apt to be done at the last moment and in somewhat of a hurry. It is too soon, therefore, to say what might or might not do in case a match is actually made.

"As to expressing an opinion on the challenge or its conditions, I think it would be better to wait until the conditions are fully known. Discussion of them can then be made to advantage, where now there must be more or less conjecture."

"Do you know of any Boston yachtsmen who have thought of defending the cup if a challenge should come?"

"I have heard of none who have so expressed themselves within a year or two, though I have in mind several who might now consider the matter. Com. Forbes has been likely to step in as a cup defender in previous years, but as to his present ideas on the matter I have no information.

"There are, however, several New York yachtsmen who I should think likely to build for the defence of the cup, and among them are Vice-Com. Morgan and R. S. Palmer, of the Marguerite. It would be a surprise to me to see both of them in the field."

A Bold Bear Pays a Visit to Caribou Village.

Rather a Serious Experience in Using Antipyrine.

A Wheelman's Cheap Trip, Attempted Suicide, etc.

Aroostook.

At the Supreme Judicial Court, at Houlton, last week, Mr Walter Cury was admitted to the bar.

The Caribou Republican says Last Thursday night, Ben Jalbare, who lives near Fremont Small's stable, heard Mr Small's oxen bellowing as if in fear, and visited the stable but could find no cause for the animal's strange actions Mr Jalbare returned to his home About ten o'clock Joe Jalbare, who lives with Mr Small, went home A short cut to the house went directly by the corner of the end of the stable, and there Joe saw something black near a wagon He heard the oxen and thought of a bear the first thing Making a detour, he managed to get between the bear and the house and then whistled loudly with his fingers The bear made for Farnham brook, near by, and plunging into the bushes disappeared from view It is rather an unusual occurrence to see a bear in our village

A Maine wheelman started from Portland for England and Scotland and was absent thirty days and all it cost him was five dollars How did he do it? He was on the wharf of the Portland and Glasgow line. They were loading cattle and a man being discharged he took his place, receiving $25 for the job and food and passage both ways His duty was to feed the stock At the small English hotels, lodging and breakfast is sixty two cents. A young man by the name of Edward Gavin attempted suicide at Madison Wednesday morning by cutting his throat with a razor A physician was hastily summoned who succeeded in arresting the hemorrhage and sewing up the wound His prospects of recovery are good. He is a native of Ireland, and has been in this country only four or five weeks He received an injury while en route, and has never fully recovered therefrom, and his despondency was the cause of his rash act

Mr J B Dugan and Mrs McCollum, of New York, who have been spending the season at Northport, had quite a serious time last week from the effects of antipyrine which each had taken as an antidote for headache Mr Dugan and Mrs McCollum went to a drug store in Belfast and asked for antipyrine Mr Dugan himself is an experienced druggist having been in that business a number of years in New York city He took the can and weighed out about eight grains which is a small dose ordinarily Before taking it the clerk cautioned him in regard to using it and remarked that he had known several cases where it had been used and the people using it had been taken violently ill But Mr Dugan said he had used it many times without any bad results After the medicine was taken Mr Dugan and Mrs McCollum went to Mr T B. Dinsmore's house, on Church street, and engaged in a game of croquet In the course of half an hour Mrs McCollum began to feel ill She was first attacked with dizziness and then was unable to stand She was carried to the house and remained unconscious all night, and for several days after she was unable to remember the events of that day Mr Dugan's sickness was longer in coming on but it was much like Mrs McCollum's in its effects He went to the Brooks house and was violently insane all night. Both parties had a serious time

Mention has been made of the efforts by local Boards of Trade to raise the necessary money to erect a suitable Maine World's Fair building at Chicago. The amount called for from Belfast was $200, and the committee some time since raised $130 At a meeting of the committee, Tuesday it was decided to raise the additional amount at once, and this will be done before the close of the present week

The stallion Elmbrook is still at the Park, in Fairfield, where he met with the accident The compound fracture of the ankle joint was a serious one, but the bones have knitted and it is expected that the horse will be brought to Belfast in a few weeks.

Bids were opened Monday at the United States Engineer's office, Portland, for various river and harbor improvements in Maine They are higher than formerly, in consequence of the eight hour law applying to work on government contracts The bids will be sent on to Washington Bids for dredging Belfast harbor were as follows, per cubic yard Moore & Wright, 80, Metropolitan Dredging Co., 26, Nations Dredging Co., 24½, R Hamilton, 23

E C Morris & Co., the well known safe manufacturers of Boston, have secured the contract for furnishing the new vault work for the People's National Bank, Belfast, consisting of heavy steel vault lining, thick, burglar-proof vault doors with time locks and combination locks, burglar-proof safe and a large number of deposit boxes

Washington

The remains of Gen Henry Prince, whose death took place in London, Eng., recently, were cremated in accordance with his request, and a small package arrived at Eastport last week by express, containing his ashes, which it is said will be finally deposited in the family lot in the old cemetery, and over which will be erected a $5,000 monument, as provided in his will.

The Eastport Sentinel says Monday afternoon Mr Obediah Smith, while attempting to board the Greenwood, at Welchpool, Campobello, caught his heel and fell down the top of the stairs leading down to the water, and fell the whole length, a distance of some twenty feet, striking his head and face against the spiling at the bottom. When picked up he was unconscious and it was found that his nose was broken and that he had sustained some ugly cuts about the face, which bled profusely. He also received some bruises about the head and was badly shaken up. Mr. Smith is a man well advanced in years and very feeble and it was remarkable how he escaped being killed.

Small attention is given to the cultivation of fruit trees in Eastport, but that they will thrive and be productive here, is shown to the fact that a resident of Key street has, within a week, sold thirty dollars worth of plums picked from three or four trees in his yard.

The first day of the sixty-fourth semi-annual meeting of Washington Conference of Congregational churches at Perry, was very largely attended and interesting.

At Boot Cove, in the western part of Lubec, was in some way thrown under the horse's feet and so badly kicked that he died the next day A young lady occupied the team with Mr. Myers, but was thrown out at the same time, and though escaping with but slight injury, she was unable to tell how the fatality occurred A man near by, states that the horse suddenly came to a standstill, upon rising ground, throwing the occupants of the carriage forward, the young lady over the wheel into the road, while Mr Myers fell across the dasher, and before he could recover himself, the horse let fly both feet, striking the unfortunate man in the face and head, the blows from its hoofs breaking his jaw on both sides, and fracturing his skull at the temple In an unconscious condition he rolled to the ground, receiving several more kicks from the vicious brute in the side and on his hip and leg

The Eastport Sentinel says A serious affray occurred at what is known as the Beat Place, across the harbor on Campobello, it is said, Monday afternoon The place is kept by a B F Estey and a man by the name of John Ferguson, a native of Prince Edward Island, employed as a sealer in the sardine factory of Pike & Gillies, Lubec, had gone to Estey's to get some liquor and have a good time Having indulged quite freely he was, so he claims, done out of some $40 of his hard earnings, and began making trouble which resulted in a rough and tumble fight in which knives and clubs were used freely, Ferguson receiving a stab from a knife in the hands of Estey which was aimed at his throat but fortunately for him, it first struck the jaw bone from which it glanced, making a triangular wound, the point of the knife then penetrating under the jaw to the depth of about an inch In addition to the cut, Ferguson received a bad contused wound on the side of his head, supposed to have been done by a club, in the fight After the affray, the wounded man made his way to one of the ferry landings and returned to Lubec where his cuts and bruises were attended to Estey immediately left home and has not been seen on the landing since Ferguson is temporarily doing all right and will soon be about again

Cockran vs. Cockran.

Congressman Bourke Cockran was the principal speaker at the Democratic rally in Boston, Thursday night. The appearance of Mr. Cockran on the stump recalls his famous speech in the Chicago convention, when he talked against time to prevent the nomination of Cleveland. In that speech he declared that Cleveland is a very popular man every day in the year until it comes to election day. He also made the declaration that there were 25,000 old soldiers in the Empire State who will not vote for Cleveland, a remark promptly indorsed by Gen. Sickles and since reiterated by him at the time of the Grand Army encampment. The entire New York delegation, including Mr. Cockran, signed a public proclamation that the nomination of Cleveland would make Democratic success extremely doubtful.

In view of these facts it is difficult to see just how the efforts of Mr. Cockran on the stump are going to help Cleveland. He is handicapped from the very start by his own utterances. The Hill men may take a perfunctory part in the canvass, but they have no real interest in the contest. If Cleveland is elected he will take excellent care that Hill is not nominated as his successor four years hence and the Hill men so understand it. On the other hand if Cleveland is defeated they are in a position to say that the convention had a fair warning of the result before the nomination was made. Of course the Democrats try to make it appear that everything is serene in the party in New York, but if so possibly they will explain why it is that Hill positively refuses to permit Cleveland to catch him, although the great "reformer" has been trying to corner him for days, going to the city for that express purpose.

Democratic Absurdity Exposed.

George Ticknor Curtis, the eminent Democratic constitutional lawyer and author, has added another to his series of letters repudiating the free trade views of the Democratic platform and the candidates of the Democratic party. Following is his clear statement of convincing facts and arguments.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 19, 1892.
To the Editor of the American Economist:

Sir: That a protective tariff is unconstitutional is not genuine Democratic doctrine. It is Calhounism, and rank Calhounism, too. But even Mr. Calhoun did not at first question the constitutional authority of Congress when laying duties on foreign products to discriminate in favor of American industries. He voted for the tariff in 1816, which was highly protective, and it was not until 1830 that he adopted the idea of a protective tariff being unconstitutional.

I differ entirely from Senator Hill in regard to the proper method of interpreting the Constitution of the United States. It is true that it does not say in so many words, "the Congress shall have power to protect American manufacturers." But it does say in express terms that "the Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises." This is one of the express powers of the Constitution, and it is to be interpreted by the application of the rule which is applied to all the other express powers. The express power is a power to lay taxes, duties, imposts and excises to defray the expenses of the Government. The incidental power is a power to so lay them as to protect and encourage our own industries. The expressi power would be useless without the incidental power, for without the exercise of the latter, the people of this country could not be in a condition to meet the expenses of their Government. Senator Hill, like many Democrats of the present day, supposes that because the Constitution does not say in express terms that "the Congress shall have power to protect American manufactures," a protective tariff is not within its constitutional power. This is what comes of interpreting the Constitution without having the knowledge necessary to interpret correctly. Apparently Senator Hill has never read the first revenue law of the United States, passed in 1789, or the debate in the first House of Representatives when it was under discussion.

In that House there were ten members who had been members of the convention which framed the Constitution. Mr. Madison was the leader on the floor, and he conducted the first revenue bill through the House. Washington was President of the United States, Hamilton was Secretary of the Treasury, Jefferson was Secretary of State, and Edmund Randolph was Attorney-General. If those four men did not know for what purpose the first revenue bill was enacted, and why it was made a highly protective tariff, I beg to ask, who did know? The record shows.

Let me now place side by side the anti-protection plank in the Democratic platform, and the preamble of the act of 1789; and here let me ask my Democratic readers whether ex-President Cleveland, Senator Hill, and others of the Democratic party at the present day are better exponents of the Constitution than Madison, Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson, Randolph and the generation of men who established it?

Anti-protection plank of the Democratic platform.	Preamble of the first tariff act, passed July 4, 1789.
We denounce Republican protection as a fraud upon the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal Government has no	Whereas, It is necessary for the support of Government, for the discharge of the debts of the United States, and the encouragement and protection of manufactures that duties be laid on goods, wares and merchan-

The Brooklyn Meeting.

The Brooklyn Standard-Union of Thursday says: Echoes from the Blaine meeting of last night pervaded Republican circles this morning. The speeches that were made by Chairman William Wallace, Stephen V. White, Charles A. Boutelle and W. S. Kerr seem to have touched the popular heart. They bristled with acts and figures that cannot be controverted, and therein lies their value.

Congressman Boutelle held the audience under a magic spell. His paraphrase of David B. Hill's hackneyed remark, "I am a Democrat," into the broad Republican interpretation, "I am an American," captured the assemblage and caused a whirlwind of applause. Brooklyn folks would like to see more of the Maine Congressman. They like him; and he evidently reciprocates the kindly feeling. * * * *

When Congressman Charles A. Boutelle came on, escorted by Chairman Francis H. Wilson, he was greeted by a storm of applause. All the speakers and prominent Republicans who, as they mounted toward the stage, were recognized, were heartily applauded. The audience was in excellent humor and they were quick to see the good points in all the addresses.

When Mr. Boutelle came to the front the applause was loud and hearty, hurrahs were repeated again and again, and even after he had started his address the enthusiastic plaudits broke out afresh. It was evident that the Brooklyn people like the Congressman from Maine. And he was glad to be in Brooklyn, as his opening remarks evidenced.

What it Means.

A vote for Cleveland is a vote for free trade as will be seen by the following statement: "An important English silk manufacturing firm has for some time been negotiating with Mr. George Brown, a real estate agent of Paterson, N. J., for a mill site, with a view to transplanting their entire business to this country. The other day Mr. Brown received a letter to the effect that they would go no further in the matter till after election. If Harrison is elected the firm will come to Paterson. If Cleveland is successful they will stay in England with the expectation of seeing our tariff overthrown and a market made here for their goods. This is a foretaste of what we may expect in the event of the success of the calamity party. That silk mill, if in operation here, would mean hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly to the people of Paterson. Who is so blind as not to see that a vote for the candidate whose election will keep that mill in England is a vote directly against the interests of his country?"

Speaking of Mr. Wayne McVeagh, whose recent letter declaring his purpose to support Cleveland is now being paraded by the Democratic papers, the Philadelphia Press says: "He has not voted for a Republican candidate for President since he voted for Garfield. He has not acted with the Republican party since he left Garfield's Cabinet. He was against Harrison in 1888, as he is against him now; he was against the Republican party before the McKinley bill, as he is against it since. The only difference is that he opposed it silently then and opposes it publicly now."

AFTER HEATED DEBATE.

Dr Storrs Finally Accepts Presidency of Board of Missions

CHICAGO, Oct 7. Peace did not hastily descend upon the American Board of Missions to-day. Tellers reported the election of the entire ticket voted upon last night, but the partisan discussion which caused such dissension in the board made it doubtful whether Dr. Storrs would accept the presidency.

After an Exciting Debate he Finally Accepted

When the result was announced, he said in part "I have the kindest feeling for the board and my desire is to help it in every way in my power. We have held it not advisable to send a man into the foreign fields who believes in probation after death My definite, absolute, final position is that young men not certain whether there is to be a future probation, who cannot affirm or deny it, but who are willing to leave it to God, and who have all other qualifications for a missionary, should be suitable for foreign missions.

I wish to know distinctly right now whether the Board reaffirms the rules of 1 set down in New York or Minneapolis or whether the Board wishes to modify or change that policy. As for church representation in the Board, my position is that the church is an unit of Congregationalism, and I am not afraid of the churches But before I accept an election to the Presidency, I want to know positively and definitely whether this board wishes to depart from the position on the subject of future probation, or whether it wishes to reaffirm that position."

The following resolution was then introduced

Resolved, That the board reaffirms the rules of administration laid down by it at the annual meetings in New York and Minneapolis and expects them applied in a spirit of liberality and faithfulness as expressed by the president in the annual letter of acceptance to the candidates for missionary appointment.

TENNIS CONTEST.

The International [illegible]

Closing Day of the Celebration of the Quarter-Millenia.

Secretary of State Foster Speaks for the President.

An Interesting Finish to a Very Successful Event.

WOBURN, Mass., Oct 7. Woburn's great quarter-millenial celebration closed this afternoon with a banquet in the new armory. Tickets for sale were limited to 500 and every ticket was taken. In addition there were nearly 150 guests, making a total of about 650 present, a large proportion of whom were ladies. Ex-Mayor Edward F. Johnson presided, and introduced Rev. Cyrus N. Richardson, of Nashua, N. H., the descendent of one of the original founders of the town, who invoked the Divine blessing.

During the banquet the Germania Orchestra, of Boston, furnished music. At 4.30 P. M. Judge Johnson called the assembly to order, with an introductory speech, during which he called attention to the fact that three Presidents, Franklin Pierce, Grover Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison, had traced their ancestry to families now or formerly residing in Woburn. Hon. John W. Foster, who responded for the President of the United States, received an enthusiastic reception.

Mr Foster's Speech.

Secretary of State Foster responded to the toast "The President of the United States," substantially as follows: It is not for me to respond for the President in his relation to you as a son of Woburn. I can boast of not a drop of New England blood in my veins. But as early inhabitants of this ancient town loyally honored their king beyond the sea, so may we all as American citizens, (with even greater propriety, pay our tribute of respect to the chief magistrate whom, by our free choice, we placed in the supremest post of authority of his nation.

It was not the desire to escape the domination of royalty, but rather an earnest longing for religious liberty which brought your forefathers to the shores of the new world. The early citizens of Massachusetts were loyal to their king. But principles of liberty and self-government incorporated in the town orders of Woburn, put in practice through its town meetings two hundred and fifty years ago, were the seed, planted by earnest, God-fearing men, sedulously cultivated by their descendants, which when under the inspiration of Otis and Patrick Henry, through the courage of Adams, Ben Harrison and their colleagues, allegiance to King George and royalty was forever sundered. How wisely our fathers acted may be judged by the line of Presidents from Washington to Harrison and by comparison with royal personages who have in the past century ruled the nations of Europe.

I may be pardoned for saying and my neighbors take pride in pointing to the President as a typical son of Indiana, and this allusion leads us to reflect upon the influences which moulded the character of the present and last generation of men of the broad region of the Ohio and Mississippi valley. The Northwest territory was forever dedicated to freedom, mainly through the influence which emanated from the political and religious and which had its worthy exponent in Nathan Dane, a son of Massachusetts. No portion of the sea-board States was more active in populating this territory than New England, and while Massachusetts sent its colonists in great numbers, no part of it made more worthy contribution than Woburn. The Puritan who made this second journey in search of a new home carried with him the church, established a school-house, instituted local self-government, and inculcated morality and sobriety.

The essence of his political creed was hatred of slavery and opposition to its domination. The present generation of that vast region is indebted to New England more than all others combined for influences which mould the character for good citizenship.

The free soil crusade which pervaded the northwest was pre-eminently a New England movement. When armed rebellion sought to dissolve the Union, it was the spirit formulated in the words of Massachusetts most eloquent son—"Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable"—which found expression in never before witnessed in any age or nation.

Mr. Foster cited the example of Benjamin Harrison in volunteering in defense of the Union and remarked it had not occurred to Mr. Harrison that some one else could do his fighting for him.

Mr. Foster continued: He remained at the front till the last enemy of his country laid down his arms. The history of Benjamin Harrison in that respect was that of tens of thousands of young men of the northwest whose characters were moulded by influences which went out from Woburn and its neighboring towns.

Because of these influences, we in Indiana call our President a typical man of his home and generation, and we are pleased to be answered by the people of this ancient corporation that he is worthy to fill the exalted post first occupied by Washington.

Gov. Russell responded for the State and was received with tremendous cheers. Speeches by the representatives of the three daughters of Woburn, the towns of Willington, Burlington and Winchester, were particularly happy. Rev. Elijah Harmon spoke for Willington, Mrs. Martha E. Sewall Curtis, the only woman speaker at the banquet, a grand-daughter of the late Rev. Samuel Sewall, Woburn's historian, for Burlington; and Samuel J. Elder, Esq., for Winchester.

At the conclusion of his remarks Prof. Jameson, of Brown University, arose, and suggested that all descendents of the seven founders of Woburn rise and 48 stood up. Six others reported afterwards who did not understand the suggestion and no doubt there are a number of others who were in sentence. A letter was read announcing the gift of $6,000 by Leonard Thompson, of Woburn, as the nucleus of a fund, the income of which is to be used in maintaining a course of annual free lectures on educational subjects.

It is estimated that 8,000 people visited Woburn during the two days' celebration.

TO LADIES

Married or single, young, middle-aged, or old. I would respectfully call your attention to the fact that I have for years studied and treated with success all diseases peculiar to your sex. Men are too apt to think perchance their wives and daughters are spleeny, etc. In this they are mistaken; women suffer and suffer for weeks, months, oft-times years, without making one single complaint, and, while my heart dwells with admiration for your patient endurance and your noble fortitude, yet I must condemn it in one sense. There is really no need of such suffering; the right kind of treatment will soon bring you back to health and happiness. I regret to say that many physicians who attempt to treat such cases fail to do good, because they do not fully understand the case they endeavor to handle. Ladies, if you are suffering, call and consult Dr. Townsend. Consultation free. Bangor House, Oct. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15. All day and evening. T T & S Oct 8.

POISONED BY SCROFULA

As the sad story of many lives made miserable through no fault of their own. Scrofula is more especially than any other hereditary disease, and for this simple reason: A sting from impure and insufficient blood; the disease locates itself in the lymphatics, which are composed of white tissues; there is a period of foetal life when the whole body consists of white tissues, and therefore the unborn child is especially susceptible to this dreadful disease. But there is a remedy for scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by its powerful effect on the blood, expels all traces of the disease and gives to the vital fluid the quality and power of health. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not accept any substitute.

STATE OF MAINE.

PENOBSCOT, ss. Court of Probate, September Term, A.D 1892.

Upon the petition of Elizabeth J. Lane, widow of Jonathan T. Lane, late of Dexter, in said County of Penobscot, deceased, intestate, that the administration of the estate of said deceased may be granted to Rhea M. Thaxter, of said Dexter.

Ordered, That said petitioner give public notice to all persons interested, by causing a copy of this order thereon to be published three weeks success-

Mothers of This Season Too Often say No.

Wakefulness Frequently a Precursor of Serious Illness.

Way to Make the Infant Rest and Laugh and Wake up Laughing.

Sleeplessness is often the precursor of very serious illness in a child.

And no better evidence can be offered of the superiority of lactated food than the many instances in which fretful, peevish, and sleepless babies, as soon as put upon it, "sleep all night and wake up laughing."

A baby cannot sleep when hungry, and whenever the mother's milk or other food is of poor quality, the child becomes cross and does not sleep well. Lactated food is better than such milk for any infant. It is the most perfect substitute for nature's purest food. The happy change that occurs when the fretful infant begins to be fed on lactated food, is solely due to the superior nourishing and satisfying qualities of its new diet. Too many mothers at this season are starving their infants and don't know it. Mrs M. C. Wyant, of Seymour, Conn., narrates her experience "Last January my daughter-in-law died, leaving a baby one week old. I have taken care of it since, and I never had a night's rest for six months. I used four different kinds of food. Nothing would stay on its stomach and it cried almost constantly. Finally, when he had cholera infantum, I sent for a package of lactated food and tried it. He got better immediately, and now sleeps all night, and is the best little fellow I ever saw."

"When I commenced using lactated food," writes Mrs. Margaret Boyce, of 149 Armory street, Springfield, Mass., "a picture of whose child appears above, "I did not think my baby boy could live. The physicians said the child was starving, and that his food did not nourish him. We used lactated food, and now he is healthy and strong. I feel that not only his health, but his life is due to this food."

Such testimonials as these may be multiplied by the hundred.

Lactated food may be had of any druggist. A package that costs a dollar is enough to make 150 meals for a growing infant, and for twenty-five cents enough can be bought to make ten pints of food.

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS

A Scaly, Itching, Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago, it would have saved me $200 00 and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body, and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ringworm, psoriasis, etc. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was $5 worth. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200 00, you would have had the money. I looked like the picture (No. 2, page 6) in your book, "How to Cure Skin Diseases," but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times.

Taking butter from milk was known in the earliest

Mr. A. H. Carrow contemplates locating a Boston soon.

Very high and low tides are prevalent in the river at the present time.

Mr. W. B. Snow, of South Brewer, returned last evening from Boston.

Mrs. A. G. Kent, of South Brewer, left yesterday for a visit of some time in Boston.

Mr. W. E. Plummer and family, of Portland, are visiting at Mr. A. Y. Rogers, in this city.

Mr. F. L. Howes, of South Brewer, has returned from a hunting trip in Orrington and vicinity.

Mr. Will Ryder arrived home yesterday from Camden, called here by the serious illness of his father.

Miss Mollie Waters, of Hampden, is stopping for a few days with Miss Lucia Gilmore, on Main street.

Mr. C. Betts has completed the foundation of a new house on Brimmer street and commenced on the building.

Gen. J. L. Chamberlain left yesterday for Brunswick, after visiting for a time at his old home in this city.

Schooner Henrietta Simmons is discharging a cargo of 1,000 sacks of sulphur at the pulp mill at South Brewer.

Mr. Sanford Palmer and family, of Helena, Mo., are visiting at the residence of Mr. Leroy Chambers, at South Brewer.

Four new members join the Second Congregational church at South Brewer next Sunday, three by letter and one by confession.

Miss Margaret E. Walsh, who has been visiting for some time in Washington, Colorado and other Western States returned home on the Boston boat yesterday.

A number of young people connected with the Y. P. S. C. E. societies of this city and Bangor, went to Veazie last evening, to help in meeting of the society at that place.

Miss Lucia Gilmore leaves Monday on a trip to Monson where she will remain for some time. Her many Brewer friends hope, when she returns, to see her much improved in health.

At about 5 30 yesterday afternoon, steamer Isma, which is lying at the ferry slip, tipped over and filled with water. A crew of men remained at the slip last night and as soon as the tide rose were to right her if possible.

The crop of potatoes being small, many of the farmers in the surrounding country, are using their apples, of which they have a plenty, as a substitute for the tubers as food for their swine. They boil them and mix them with meal with satisfactory results, it is said.

There is talk of raising a flag over the school house, in district number 5, in the neighboring town of Dedham, and a meeting was held recently by the citizens to consult in regard to the matter and to plan as to the raising of the money to purchase the banner.

The Bon Ton has considerable difficulty getting into the Brewer slip at low tide on account of the bar, which lies about ten feet out from the slip. Last evening she grounded several times and the passengers were obliged to go ashore on a plank. The tides are running low at present.

The homestead of Mr. Ira Dole, on Whiting's Hill, was the scene of another "husking bee" last evening. At the rate of three huskings a week it will not take long to husk all the corn in Brewer and vicinity. A large crowd was present and all enjoyed themselves, as they always do at Mr. Dole's.

John Street, one of the employes of the Eastern Manufacturing Co. at South Brewer, met with a painful accident yesterday while at work in the vicinity of the mill. In some manner, while repiling some old timber, a nail pierced his leg just above the knee joint, making a very painful wound. He was attended by a physician.

A company has been organized in Brewer for the purpose of building a new steamer to run on the Hampden route in connection with the steamer Welcome. Capt. Benjamin R. Arey is president of the company, and Mr. H. J Leach is to build the steamer. It is to be 45 feet long by 12 feet wide, having a 15 horse power engine, and costing about $3,000. The increasing business on this route requires the building of this steamer.

The local branch of Iron Hall held a meeting Thursday evening at their hall and important business was transacted in relation to the recent trouble of the lodge. They decided not to send the money to the receiver who has been appointed to settle the business of the whole order, but to employ Appleton & Chapman, the lawyers who are handling the affairs of the Bangor order. The members of the Brewer lodge feel that their chances are small for realizing much from the failure.

Of the amount of taxes fixed by the assessors last spring, Collector and Treasurer Cochran has, up to date, received about $21,000. The full amount is about $29,000, and there were something over $2,000 in discounts, so, in the neighborhood of $5,500 or $6,000 yet remains uncollected of this year's taxes, in the city. The time for the allowing of a discount has gone by and the full face of the bill is now payable. It is customary to charge interest on all taxes remaining unpaid after the first of January, following the time of the issuing of the bills.

There seems to be a nice opening for some enterprising man to start a boot and shoe store at the lower end of the city near the ferry. There has been until lately one or two stores there but at present there is none. The right man in the right place and one that keeps a full line of goods, not a partial line, should do a large business, as now all of the lower Brewer and Orrington trade goes to Bangor, while if there was a store at the ferry they could not do less than look at the goods and if they were reasonable in price would purchase. It would prove a great convenience to many if someone would open a store of this kind there.

Winslow Juvenile Temple is prospering and is now a very strong organization, having grown very rapidly, since its organization a few months ago. It started with a good membership, but it now numbers about 125 paid initiations and held

The Great Boston Fair.

For two months to come, Boston is to be the home of a great exhibition of industry, manufacture and art.

The Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association opened its eighteenth biennial exhibition on Wednesday, and the variety and extent of the various departments is most complete and admirable.

This exhibition undoubtedly will surpass anything previously done by this venerable and vigorous association; and this means that it will excel anything heretofore seen in this part of the country.

The public advantages of these exhibitions are, the influence for the improvement and elevation of the home life of the people, the infusion of the artistic element, the suggestion of better and more comfortable living.

The Mechanics' Fair works for education as well as for material advantage.

Saddle and Harness.

Burbank & Williams, of Coventry, Vt., have sold the six-year-old mare Kathsha 2.49½ by Ben Franklin, to a gentleman in Worcester, Mass., for $1,500.

Ben Franklin has added five new 2.30 performers to his credit this year

W. H. Pethyeradge, of Haverhill, Mass, paid $800 for the yearling colt Tom Gillig at the breeders' meeting. This colt won the yearling race at the same meeting, trotting half a mile in 1.26. He is by Gillig 2 23½, dam Gypsy by Ben Franklin.

Eighteen thousand dollars was recently refused for Fannie H., (by Red Wilkes) dam of Evangeline 2.11¾. This is the highest price ever offered for a Kentucky brood mare.

To dry off a track after a rain 15,000 sheep were driven over the track at Rhodhouse, Ill., and soon put it in good condition

At the Kentucky breeders' meeting a 2 12 class with a purse of $2,000 is provided for There will also be several dash raised at various distances

The gold and silver medals offered by the French draft horse association for the best exhibit at the World's fair for next year have been received by Treasurer Seeberger. They are large and unusually handsome, being about 4 inches in diameter

Axtell has one standard performer to his credit. The two-year-old filly Elloree by him having trotted a third heat in 2 26.

Silkwood, the California pacer by Blackwood Mambrino, that is matched against the trotter McKinney 2.12¼, is said to be able to go a mile in 2 06 or better.

The skeleton of Palo Alto 2.08¾, is being mounted at the Academy of Sciences in San Francisco, and will soon be placed beside that of Electioneer in the Museum at the Leland Stanford, Jr., university

Munroe Salisbury, of California, already has a surprise for 1893. It is a pacer and a mate to Flying Jib. The two of them double paced a half in 1 02 at the Bay district track near San Francisco, before Mr Salisbury bought Flying Jib.

The entire Log Cabin stud of Percherons, belonging to Senator Palmer, president of the World's Fair, has been bought by H. C Farnum, proprietor of the Island Home stock farm of Grosse Isle, Mich. In this lot is the stallion Fenelon 2,682 and a dozen very finely bred mares.

M C. W. H.: More & Marston, of Springfield, Mass., are wholesale dealers in feed stuffs

Zora Zar, the three-year-old daughter of Alcazar 2 24½, owned by Col. John Thayer, of Lancaster, Mass., has started in nine races and won eight of them, all in straight heats.

Flying Jib has won $15,000 or more in stakes and purses, and has a number of rich engagements yet He is the heaviest winner of the season on the trotting or pacing turf, and it is quite probable that he will close up with $25,000 to his credit.

POISONED BY SCROFULA
Is the sad story of many lives made miserable through no fault of their own. Scrofula is more especially than any other a hereditary disease, and for this simple reason: Arising from impure and insufficient blood, the disease locates itself in the lymphatics, which are composed of white tissues; there is a period of foetal life when the whole body consists of white tissues, and therefore the unborn child is especially susceptible to this dreadful disease. But there is a remedy for scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by its powerful effect on the blood, expels all trace of the disease and gives to the vital fluid the quality and color of health. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not accept any substitute

TO PREVENT THE GRIP
Or any other similar epidemic, the blood and the whole system should be kept in healthy condition. If you feel worn out or have "that tired feeling" in the morning, do not be guilty of neglect. Give immediate attention to yourself. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla to give strength, purify the blood and prevent disease.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, jaundice, biliousness, sick headache, constipation. A "Handsome is that handsome does," and if Hood's Sarsaparilla doesn't do handsomely then nothing does. Have you ever tried it?

HE DID NOT CALL.
The man who tried Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and was sure of $500 reward offered by the proprietors for an incurable case, never called for his money. Why not? O, because he got cured! He was sure of two things: (1) That his catarrh could not be cured. (2) That he would have that $500. He is now sure of one thing, and that is that his catarrh is gone completely. So he is out $500, of course. The makers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have faith to cure the worst cases of Nasal Catarrh, no matter of how long standing, and agree to pay $500 for a case they cannot cure. Don't delay, but get relief at once. By all druggists.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
